VISIONARY LEADERSHIP AWARDS

AACN Pioneering Spirit Award

Danielle K. McCamey

Danielle K. McCamey, DNP, CRNP, ACNP-BC, FCCP, is a seasoned critical care clinician and visionary leader committed to advancing inclusion and belonging in nursing. As the founder of DNPs of Color, she established a global platform that empowers nurses of color through networking, mentorship and advocacy. Her work through DNPs of Color has increased diverse representation in doctoral nursing practice, catalyzing a transformative shift within the profession.

McCamey's leadership extends beyond DNPs of Color. As the co-creator of the Doctoral Nurses Collaborative, she united DNP- and PhD-prepared nurses across her healthcare system, providing invaluable mentorship, promoting evidence-based practice, and amplifying nursing scholarship.

She is assistant dean for strategic partnerships at Johns Hopkins School of Nursing, where she leads initiatives to cultivate and fortify relationships with healthcare organizations, educational institutions and community partners.

Her commitment to excellence extends beyond nursing. As a fellow of the American College of Chest Physicians, she was honored as a Distinguished CHEST Educator for her exceptional contributions to education and critical care. She is a highly sought-after speaker and mentor, well known for her inspirational and motivational insights. McCamey's transformative leadership and pioneering spirit continue to advance the nursing profession.
