Circle of Excellence

Feri Kiani is an RN IV in the pediatric ICU at Children's Hospital Los Angeles (CHLA). Feri has an incredible depth of critical care knowledge with an enthusiastic passion for teaching and mentoring nurses both clinically and through the certification process. Her experience as a respiratory therapist has been instrumental in developing content and helping her PICU colleagues be more confident in caring for patients on mechanical ventilation. Feri demonstrates calmness, empathy, strong listening skills, advocacy and generosity in her roles as a bedside nurse, relief charge nurse, educator and clinical leader. One of her standout qualities is her leadership ability in driving innovation and excellence in critical care nursing. Feri's dedication to clinical excellence has resulted in numerous local, regional and national clinical presentations, including NTI, that have made a lasting impact on the nursing community.
